SCORE
90.6

→ DANFORTH HAS HISTORICALLY been an inroad to the action, not the site of it. These days, the bustling area—and this year's top-ranking neighbourhood—spoils residents with quality restaurants, bars, shopping and schools, all packed within its boundaries, which stretch from Pape to Woodbine. What changed? It's the type of place that has always been quietly, consistently good—scoring high on almost every metric, particularly in education, employment and entertainment. Beyond the vibrant main drag, families are drawn to the abundance of green space (like nearby Withrow Park, to the south), the peaceful quiet of its leafy inner streets and, in a city of skyrocketing real estate prices, the relative affordability of its housing. Danforth also scores high for access to grocery stores and pharmacies as well as its proximity to Michael Garron Hospital. Plus, with Line 2 transecting the area, residents can hop on the TTC and be downtown or across town in minutes.
